1954 CHRYSANTHEMUM INTRODUCTIONS

WILMA LEE (Spoon, Windus - Coles) Named by special permission of Miss Lee. A Columbia Broadcasting artist, it takes class to reach such a high pinnacle, and we believe the flower is worthy of the name color, petals are tightly rolled silver, spoon portion cardinal red. This one created a sensation when first shown publicly at the Chrysanthemum Society's show 1952. The plant will produce hundreds of three inch blooms, grown naturally. Disbudded 5x2½ inches. Been tried here three years. We find it extra hardy. Liked by all visitors of our gardens. WILMA LEE is a sport of the well known Lovely Nell.

CHRYSANTHEMUM CULTURE

Rooted cuttings of chrysanthemums half price of potted plants when two or more of a kind are ordered, except patented varieties and current introductions.

Patented Varieties. We have not found them any better than others of same color except Fred W. Rockwell. One cannot sell them or give them away, in my opinion, they are not worth bothering with.

A few do's and don'ts: Plant in well prepared soil that has had a coat of manure the previous fall or winter if you have it, or an application of commercial fertilizer worked into the soil 10 days before planting. Side dress with any fertilizer about July 10th, again when buds appear just before a rain. Keep well cultivated, pinch out top when 6 or 8 inches high, again after the side branches have made good growth. Not after July 20th it might be too late for buds to set. Don't plant too near a building or tall trees. Give them room enough to develop and produce the blooms you expect. By all means dig up your old clump each Spring, divide using the new shoots, destroy the old one. You will be rewarded for your labor.

From Beaumont, Texas

Dear Sir,

In regards to the Mums I must say that this is the first time that I have received plants as far away as Magnolia, N. J. to Beaumont, Texas, and not even have a wilted leaf among the plants for in the past we have expected to lose one in every five plants. I will not hesitate to recommend your plants both for size and the care that is taken in packing them for shipment. And I should know as I have experimeted for the past 6 years with plants and getting them shipped from almost every state in the United States. R.E.G.
